

[COMMUNICATION - JOURNALISM]

BENJAMIN'S YOUNIVERSITY.

HUNTINGTON UNIVERSITY

HUNTINGTON UNIVERSITY

HUNTINGTON UNIVERSITY

[JOURNALISM]

Overview

Do you want to be a newsmaker? Are you fascinated by the power of the press to inform public debate and shape our society? The journalism program at Huntington University may be just what you are seeking.

Major in journalism at Huntington University and you will learn to hone phrases, interview experts, report facts, write for Web and print media, master Associate Press style, and craft hard news and feature stories. And you'll explore the "bigger picture" — how the values of society lead to the inclusion or exclusion of story topics. You will also learn how Christian journalists can use their craft to do justice and practice mercy before God.

By the time you graduate, you will have a solid base of journalism experience and a portfolio of published articles to share with prospective employers. You will have been coached by instructors with real-world experience in the field, including editors and reporters from regional newspapers and national magazines.

Journalism students publish their work in a variety of venues, including The Huntingtonian, our campus newspaper. You can serve as an editor or reporter for sports, entertainment, and news. Other opportunities for journalism students include reporting and producing The Kicker, a student-produced magazine with investigative, editorial, and humor articles. We will also guide you into summer and semester-long internships with newspapers and online news media companies.

Visit our web site today to explore the many opportunities offered by the Department of Communication at Huntington University.

www.huntington.edu/comm

Faculty

Dr. Lance Clark

Associate Professor of Communication
Department Chair
Gamer, Videographer, Film Maker.
Ph.D. in communication, Regent University
lclark@huntington.edu

Dr. Kevin Miller

Associate Professor of Communication
Former Associate Editor of Christianity Today.
Ph.D. in communication, University of Kentucky
kmiller@huntington.edu

Dr. Michael Rowley

Associate Professor of Communication
Gator Wrestler. Professional Tree Climber.
Ph.D. in communication theory and research,
Florida State University
mrowley@huntington.edu

Bryan Ballinger

Assistant Professor in Digital Media Arts
Children's Book Illustrator. Collector of Unusual Cuisines.
M.F.A., Leslie University
bballinger@huntington.edu

Steve Leeper

Instructor in Digital Media Arts
Layout Supervisor on "Jonah: A VeggieTales Movie."
M.F.A., The Art Institute of Boston
sleeper@huntington.edu

[JANE HODSON, COMMUNICATIONS (JOURNALISM) '03]

It's one thing to land the job you want after college graduation. But it's quite another thing to win an annual company award in your rookie year. A little more than a year after graduating from Huntington University in 2003, Jane Hodson found herself reporting at the murder scene of a man killed just outside of Greenfield, Ind. Her subsequent coverage of the murder earned her Story of the Year 2004 honors at the Greenfield Daily Reporter.

"I was at the scene that morning and have provided coverage from the investigation all the way through the arrests of the three individuals who conspired to have this man killed, through the final trial," says Jane, a native of Greenfield. "I was there for every day for the trial, and, according to our editor and publisher, have provided the best coverage of any trial the Daily Reporter has ever done."

While at Huntington, Jane earned her bachelor's degree in communication with an emphasis in print media. As a student entering the highly competitive field of journalism, Jane says Huntington's small class sizes and personal attention were a helpful advantage.

"I definitely believe that the single biggest advantage to attending Huntington was the individual attention I could expect in every one of my classes," she says. "The fact that my professors knew me and my strengths and weaknesses and were always available to answer a question or work through a concept is so invaluable."

Hey Benjamin,

My name is April Meyer, and I'm your official Huntington University Admissions Counselor!

When it comes to building the whole you - nobody does it better than Huntington.

That's because we provide a nationally recognized, rigorous liberal-arts education. We incorporate your faith in the process. Challenge you to think. Get real-world experience. Expand your horizons.

Take a minute to dig deeper into Huntington. And feel free to contact me if you have any questions. I look forward to hearing from you!

- April

HUNTINGTON
UNIVERSITY

2303 College Avenue Huntington, IN 46750
Phone: 800.642.6493
Email: admissions@huntington.edu
Web: huntington.edu/admissions

Benjamin Doe
2303 College Avenue
Huntington, IN 46750

TOP 5 reasons students come to Huntington

98% of Huntington graduates are employed or continuing their education within 6 months of graduation

- spiritual atmosphere
- career preparation
- quality of faculty
- quality of intended major
- academic reputation and quality

22News
HU's TV News Broadcast

6 distinct programs

30+ Top Awards from the Intercollegiate National Religious Broadcasters

105.5FM

the Fuse:HU's campus radio station