

Dayton, Ohio,
May 23, 1907,

Rev. J. Howe,
Huntington, Ind.

Dear Brother: — I came home last evening. I found Mr. Charles busy, Tuesday, in the circuit court. So Bro. Buller and I met him Wednesday morning, and he arranged with the attorneys of the plaintiffs, and Mr. Watkins, and the court to postpone the trial till June 14th, which will be Friday after commencement. Mr. Watkins is to be at Marion the 6th of June, when he and Mr. Charles will go over the case together with such light as we can give them. We will then determine what witnesses we will need to call with or without subpoena.

I will send, before that time, to Mr. Watkins, some points we can prove, and probably some day before the 6th, you had better see Mr. Watkins and spend an hour or two in giving him the case.

I was not at Fowlerton, and have little news from that neighborhood.

My cold is now no worse than when I came to Huntington, last Saturday. I am glad of that.

I hope this will find you and family well.

Your brother,
Milton Wright.
