Mrs. Lucy Miner was born in the state of New York December 1, 1830, and died in Cohoctah, Mich., of pneumonia, Wednesday morning, March 24, 1915, at the age of eighty-four years three months and twenty-four days. Early in life she gave her heart to the Savior, and her name to the United Brethren church, living a consistent Christian life. She manifested the Christian character, never losing sight of the one great purpose of life, to be ready when the Master called. In the year of 1849 she was married to William F. Miner. To this union were born six children—James and Clark Miner, of Howell; Moses, Herman and Ezra, of Cohoctah, who survive her, the daughter Margaret having preceded her to the better world several years ago. Greatly will she be missed in her home and in the church. No mother could do more than she sought to do in the interest of her children, both by precept and example, by prayer and loving companionship. She gave them a heritage which is better than gold; to those that are left to mourn the loss of a mother, may the remembrance of her and the thoughts that she is beckoning you to the Port of Glory, cheer your hearth, and to an interest in the Divine Master. Funeral sermon from Ps. 16:11, at her home. Services conducted by the writer.

Sister Gray was a member of the United Brethren church at Eagle Point, near Toledo, O., the writer's first charge, nineteen years ago. Her home was always a sort of United Brethren free hotel for God's ministers. The writer can say without flattery that she lived a consistent, Godly life, and of course her death was triumphant. The last year was one of great suffering, though borne patiently. Funeral sermon and song service by the writer, assisted by his wife. Text, Numbers 23-10. Her death occurred March 18, 1915. Interment at Perrysburg, O.
