A CAUTION.

This is to warn the public against one, J. H. Price, who claims to be a preacher in the United Brethren Church. He was a quarterly conference preacher, but his license was revoked for conduct unworthy of a minister of the gospel. MAX AND ZAN AND NICODEMUS;

—OR,—

A SILVER TEASPOON AND A LINEN NAPKIN.

By MRS. M. A. HAYNIE FISHER.

A delightful story for girls and boys by an author who knows children thoroughly. Chance, as it would seem, brings to a bright boy and girl living in the mountain region of East Tennessee advantages their simple home does not afford, and inanimate objects take the place of living teachers and lend to the development of beautiful traits and the transformation of a rude and untidy home into one of taste and refinement. The book is handsomely printed and bound, with an appropriate design on cover. Price, postpaid, 75 cents.
