SPECIAL NOTICES.

TO THE MINISTERS OF ST. JOSEPH CONFERENCE.

Dear brethren, Is it not about time that we begin to bestir ourselves and make some arrangements as to our Ministerial Institute? Or do we really intend to let it die? True, the Institutes have not been as interesting and beneficial as they should have been, not because the teachers were not prepared to teach, but because of the small attendance of ministers. Nevertheless, we cannot afford to let the Institute die. Let us make another vigorous effort to have an Institute this spring, and if possible secure an interest that will put new life into this line of work that we so much need and ought to have. What say you, brethren? I think I have a place, quite central in the conference, where the people will royally entertain the Institute free, if we desire it. O. F. LANDIS.

TO THE MINISTERS AND LAYMEN OF ST. JOSEPH CONFERENCE.

Dear brethren, as per resolution of our last annual conference, our missionary collection was to be taken in two installments—the first to be paid by the first of April and the second by Sept. 1. The conference instructed me to borrow the money to pay off the indebtedness; and so I have, so far as I could, but some of the obligations given are due. I do hope that all the pastors will look after the matter at once and forward the same to me so I can meet promises made on the strength of that resolution. We should reach the one hundred thousand dollar line this year. We can if we will. Let's do our very best, and do it at once; for the cause demands it, our missionaries demand it, and God demands it to be done. According to the resolution (see Conference Minutes, pages 459 and 460), the one hundred thousand dollar line was crossed, Feb. 15, by the Ligonier society. This makes the fourth year in succession—G. F. Byrer, pastor. Now, who will be the next? J. A. CUMMINS.
