This dashboard is updated weekly based on data provided by students and employees or the Huntington County Health Department to the COVID-19 Task Force. It includes data for students and employees if they are working on campus, living on campus, or taking classes through HU.

Isolation is the term used for separation from other people when someone is known to be infected or is sick with COVID-19, in contrast to quarantine which is the term used for separation from other people when someone is not ill or known to be infected but might have been exposed to the novel coronavirus. Isolation is available in Hardy Hall for residential students. (Students may opt to return home to isolate.) Students and employees who live off-campus isolate in their homes.
